Healthy Weight Commitment Foundation, National PTA and Discovery Education Announces Clinton Global Initiative Commitment: Pre-K Smart from the Start Grant Program

-- New Program Offers Schools, Parents and the Community $500,000 in Grants, Training and Awards --

Silver Spring, Md. – The Healthy Weight Commitment Foundation (HWCF), National PTA® and Discovery Education, announced today their Clinton Global Initiative (CGI) Commitment to Action, Smart from Start. An early childhood education grant program, Smart from the Start, offers critically important healthy living resources to preschoolers and their families across the nation.

Smart from the Start is the latest brainchild of the Together Counts™ initiative by the Healthy Weight Commitment Foundation and Discovery Education. Together Counts encourages educators, students and families to live active and healthy lives in an effort to address childhood obesity nationwide.

Indra Nooyi, Chairman of the Healthy Weight Commitment Foundation and Chairman and CEO of PepsiCo said, “Smart from the Start is a great example of the progress that can be achieved when diverse stakeholders join forces to support common goals. This program will have a meaningful impact on the lives of young people and help address important issues facing our communities.”

Smart from the Start will award up to 47 grants, ranging from 20K to 2.5K. Each grant will serve up to 500 families, community members, students, and faculty. Over the first two years of the program, up to 47,000 people will be enabled to make life-changing decisions for a healthier lifestyle.

“Smart from the Start and our pre-K Energy Balance programming gives us the chance to reach more than 24 million preschoolers in the United States,” said Lisa Gable, President of the Healthy Weight Commitment Foundation.” This program is a new addition to the $42 million multi-year financial commitment already made by our members to provide the tools parents and teachers need to promote active, healthy lifestyles.”
The Quaker Oats Company, a subsidiary of HWCF founding member PepsiCo, today announced it will take an active role in promoting the program to more than 2 million consumers through its social media and online properties – demonstrating a continued commitment to fueling healthy families. Bumble Bee Foods, LLC, General Mills, Inc., Nesquik and other HWCF partners will also promote the program through their social channels with an estimated reach of over 3 million consumers.

Launching this fall, Smart from the Start will support and bolster nutrition and active lifestyle initiatives for preschoolers, their families and communities by offering:

- A grant program. This comprehensive and competitive awards program targets schools, parents and the community. With support from the HWCF coalition of organizations – most specifically National PTA – schools and communities across the country will be awarded grants and other prizes for the implementation of healthy living initiatives at the preschool level. Through our existing Together Counts site and National PTA’s wide network of local, council and state PTA’s as well as 14,000 Title I schools with Pre-K programs, the Smart from the Start grant program will award $500,000 in grants, training and awards.

- Pre-K curriculum. Featuring developmentally-appropriate activities within two broad thematic units, Me and My Choices and Give It a Try!, the curriculum is designed in a flexible grab and go format. The Pre-K curriculum allows educators to integrate lessons and activities intermittently throughout the year or as a 20-day thematic unit. Each of the new lessons and activities are also aligned to a range of popular preschool health programs including Head Start, NAEYC, WIC, SNAP-Ed and NASPE among others.

- Opportunities for community engagement with HWCF nonprofit partners. This will complement the grant and award program. These nonprofit organizations will have the opportunity to win cash prizes in exchange for supporting schools or communities in the grant application process. Nonprofit partners like Girl Scouts of the USA and Yellow Tractor will also be engaged in ensuring grant applicants are aware of turnkey programs that can be incorporated into applications and modified to fit unique Pre-K programs.

“Teaching children and families about the importance of energy balance, nutrition and physical activity is critical to help them make good decisions now and set the stage for a healthy lifestyle into adulthood,” said Otha Thornton, National PTA President. “PTAs play an important role in educating, engaging and bringing together families, schools and communities, and we are pleased to partner with the Healthy Weight Commitment Foundation and Discovery Education to empower them with tools and resources to inspire active, healthy living.”

Smart from the Start is part of the Healthy Weight Commitment Foundation and Discovery Education’s joint Together Counts initiative. With the help of TogetherCounts.com, schools and families nationwide gain free access to funds and dual language resources that help to build healthy environments and reduce childhood obesity. The Together Counts initiative is a national campaign that promotes active, healthy living through energy balance – balancing the calories we consume with the calories we burn. The program focuses its efforts on two critical areas – families and schools. It provides tips, tools and incentives for parents, teachers and school health professionals to use in encouraging energy balance.
